2011 IASPEP

2011 International Autumn Seminar on Propellants, Explosives and Pyrotechnics (2011 IASPEP) will be held in Nanjing, Jiangsu Province, China, September 20–23, 2011. It is a continuation of the previous eight international seminars with same topics held in China. With the addition of combustion and detonation phenomenon being its main topic for discussion, the present seminar hopes to provide an up-to-date discussion in the field of PEP and chemical energetic materials in general. All papers presented at the seminar will be published in Theory and Practice of Energetic Materials (Vol. IX).

Conference Language

The Conference language for the seminar will be English, which will be used for all presentations and printed materials.

Main Topics

Main topics of discussions will include (but are not limited to):

Propellants, Explosives and Pyrotechnics

Synthesis and Characterization

Formulation and Compounding

Processing and Manufacturing

Test Methods and Criteria

Performance, Stability and Compatibility

Safety Aspects

Recycling and Disposal

Combustion and Detonation Phenomenon

Reaction Mechanisms, Analysis of Reaction Products

Ignition and Initiation, Hot Spots

Thermal Behavior, Fast/Slow Cook off

SDT, DDT and XDT Phenomena

Constitutive Relations, Equation of State

Detonation/Deflagration Wave Propagation

Hazard Assessment, Safety Analysis and Evaluation

Chemical Explosion and its Energy Utilization

Also other topics related to the R&D of basic principles, technology, application, diagnostics, modeling etc, for PEP as well as combustion and detonation phenomenon.

Abstracts

Abstracts for papers must be unclassified, and less than 500 words in length. All abstracts should include purpose, results, significance and comparison with the past. Please state your preference for oral or poster session. Both types of contributions will be published in the Proceedings of 2011 IASPEP. The deadline for receipt of the abstracts is April 10, 2011.

Submission of Papers

Full foreign papers must be submitted by Email to
